chionian depressions were normal; the dura was of normal thickness, longitudinal sinus wide and thin; the lateral sinuses were thickened, and the torcular herophilii was thickened to the extent of a half-inch; it was firmly adherent to all the basilar bones, from which it could not be removed except by scraping.

The posterior half of the cerebral turnisplures were much congested and the subarachnoid space filled with a wine-colored and gelatinous fluid. All the cranial nerves were normal; the cranial cavity contained about three ounces of bloody fluid; the brain weighed forty ounces-the anterior lobes were adherent-the anterior and postceutral convolutions were normal (right side); the left slightly depressed. The parietal con-volutions were markedly atrophied; there was white softening of the auterior lobes and the ventricles contained but little fluid, the choroid paxus was cystic, showed a small tumor upon the right, the size of a pea; all the cerebral gauylia seemed normal to the unaided eye; the cerebellum, pons and medulla had a nor-mal appearance; all the cerebral arteries were uniform and normal in appearance. In scraping the adherent dura from the base of the skull the lella turcua was found meresed and pliable, and traces of fracture and disease were distinctly marked at inner third of petrous portion of left temporal bone, extending across to the opposite

There were likewise marks of erosion internally opposite occipital protuberance. The brain did not completely fill the cranial cavity and the general condition was that of atrophey.

GLADSTONE ON HIS WAY HOME.

Enthusiastic Receptions at Several Points

on His Journey to Hawarden. LONDON, Nov. 3.-Mr. Gladstone started on his return to Hawarden from Scotland to-day. When the train on which he was traveling reached Montrose, a large number of his friends were in waiting and they gave him an enthusiastic reception. This scene was repeated at Arbroth. A number admirers presented him stick and a walking When Peebles basket. was reached the train was met by a large crowd, and a delegation of workingmen presented Mr. Gladstone with a traveling rug. Here Mr. Gladstone delivered a short address, in the course of which he referred to the speech made by Lord Hartington at the Liberal-Unionist meeting at Edinburgh on Friday. Lord Hartington, Mr. Gladstone said, was evidently not well satisfied with the result of his doctrines. The only doubt in Lord Hartington's mind was whether the time had arrived to surrender. The Liberal-Unionist party, Mr. Gladstone declared, was broken down and the followers of it were dreadfully broken up by the results of recent by elections for members of the House of Commons, which were most satisfactory to the Liberals. Mr. Gladstone has declined to stand as a candidate for the rectorship of the University of Aberdeen. He gives his advanced age as his reason for declining the nomination. The present incumbent of the office is the Rt. Hon. G. J. Goschen, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

Conflict Between Turks and Armenians. CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 3.—An encounter has occurred between a detachment of Turkish troops and a band of armed Armenians near Erzengan, seventy-five miles southwest of Erzeroum, in Armenia Seven of the soldiers were killed and fifteen were wounded.

Acting under an order issued by the Sultan, the Governor of Erzeroum summoned all the Moslems to the mosques. where exhortations were read in regard to their treatment of Christians. In the exhortations the Christians were termed brothers and the Moslem was called upon to treat them with respect. They also declared that the Sultan was determined to protect the Christians within his dominions.

The Czar Frightened.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 3.-During a circus performance here, which was attended by the Czar and the members of his family, one of the trained horses suddenly became vicious and made an attack on M. Giniselli, the manager of the circus. The horse knocked the man down and bit him and trampled upon him, mangling him in a terrible manner in full view of the spectators. The Czar and his family abruptly withdrew from the imperial box and left the building. A general panic among the spectators followed, and the performance was closed

Denied Religious Rites.

LONDON, Nov. 3.-Accounts from Macedonia represent that many painful scences have been witnessed in that province as a result of the closing of the Greek churches. The Greek clergy refuse to attend upon the dying or the dead. At Sinek Hissar the easantry mobbed a priest because he refused to minister at a funeral, the priest narrowly escaping serious violence. The bearers left the body at the gate of the cemetery, and would not proceed with the interment owing to the denial of religious Hurricane at Sea.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The American steamer Pennsylvania, Captain Thomas, from Philadelphia October 22, arrived at Queenstown to-day and proceeded for Liverpool She reports that during the voyage she encountered a hurricane which lasted for four days. The wind created heavy seas, one of which boarded the steamer, smashing a lifeboat. To avoid accidents to the passengers they were kept below decks for sixty hours during the storm.

Imprisoned for Photographing a Witness. TIPPERARY, Nov. 3 .- During the proceedings in the conspiracy trial here today Patrick O'Brien attempted to photograph a witness who was testifying before the court. He was taken into custody and arraigned before the magistrates, who adjudged him guilty of contempt of court and sentenced him to one week's imprisonment. The witness made no objection to having his photograph taken.

Duty Reduced on Wheat and Rye. BERLIN, Nov. 4 .- The tariff negotiations between Germany and Austria have resulted in a reduction to three marks of the duties on rye and wheat imported from countries baving commercial treaties with Germany and Austria containing the "most favored-nation clause. This will include the imports of those cereals from the United States and exclude those from Russia.

Spasm of Morality in London. Deposits in National Banks.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—The president of the National Revere Bank, of Boston, recently wrote a letter to the Secretary of the Treasury, saying that the published report of Oct. 31 showed a deposit with the national banks of $29,000,000, an increase of $5,000,000 since the report of Oct. 15, and asking if the department is increasing deposits with national banks. Secretary Windom replied to him as follows:

The moneys on deposit with national banks consist of funds to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States and to the credit of the United States disbursing officers. The amount reported on Oct. 15, 1890, included only moneys subject to the drafts of the United States Treasurer. also, funds subject to the checks of the United States disbursing officers. Instead of increasing deposits with national banks the department is withdrawing them as fast as it can be done without injury to the commercial interests of the country. Of course, owing to irregularity in the receipts and disbursements by national banks, the moneys on deposit therewith fluctuate in amount, but there was no permanent increase between the dates named.

TERRIBLE BLUNDER BY A BOY

Youthful Operator Causes a Serious Railway Collision Near Syracuse, N. Y.

He Threw a Switch That He Should Have Left Untouched, and the Result Was the Loss of Four Lives and Injury to Others.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 3 .- An accident most horrible in detail occurred on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad at Rock Cut, a station about three miles south of this city, through the undue officiousness of a boy telegraph operator by the name of M. A. Clark. The accident occurred at about 5:40 this afternoon, and the blunder of the operator resulted in the death of four persons, the injury of many others, and the destruction of several thousand dollars' worth of the rolling stock of the road. The New York and Pacific day express train from the south, which is due in Syracuse at 5:55 P. M., passes Rock Cut at 5:40. It does not stop there, but passes the station at the usural rate of speed, which is about forty miles an hour. Before the express was due at Rock Cut two coal trains from Syracuse had arrived at the station, and had been run in on a switch on the north side of the main track. The engine on the first train that went in on the switch stood pretty well up towards the east end of the sidetrack. Engineer James Doyle, of Scranton, Pa., of the coal train, was in the cab of his engine waiting for the express to pass, when he would pull out. Michael Tierney, a brakeman, was also in the cab, cleaning his lantern. The second coal train was behind Doyle's and about seventy feet from the gaboose of the forward train.

Clark, the operator, was in his room in He was on the lookout for the express. The latter was on time, and, as the headlight of its engine came in view, it flashed through Clark's mind that the switch was open, and that if it was not closed the express would dash into the coal train. No sooner did the thought enter his brain than he dashed out of the door, rushed to the switch and swung it over. Then he realized, but too late, his mistake. As the switch was turned the express swung on to the side-track, and the crash of the engines spoke the result. Like monsters they ground each other to pieces. The noise of the collision was lost in the cries of the passengers within the coaches of the express train. The fireman and engineer of each engine were caught in the wreck and ground to death. Their names were: James Doyle of Scranton, Pa.; Myrtie Fernand, his fire-man; Michael J. Burke, of Syracuse; Jeremiah Lee, his fireman. The baggage and express car of the passenger train turned over into the ditch on the north side of the track. In the car were W. H. Toppenall, of Oswego; George Derby, of Cortland, and Josiah Kimbell, of Oswego. All were more or less injured, though not fatally. Michael Tierney was also badly hurt. All the passengers were badly shaken up, though only one was injured seriously. That one was Mrs. Julia Corcoran, of Buffalo, whose spine was hurt and two of her ribs broken.

Miners Killed While on the Track.

IRWIN, Pa., Nov. 3.-The Uniontown express east, this evening, ran into a party of Slavonian miners on their way to the Westmoreland Coal Company's mines, instantly killing Joseph Dobosh, aged thirty-four, and Michael Guidas, aged twenty-nine. A little girl was thrown down the bank, but escaped without serious injury. The men had been working here about a week. Both leave families in Europe.

WHAT THE BALLOTS MAY TELL.

plurality of about 2,300 votes, the Democrats have good reason to feel confident In the Iwentieth district, which includes five Cleveland wards, all the outside townships in the county and the counties of Lake, Lorain, Summit and Huron, Hon. V A. Taylor, the Republican candidate, is certain to be elected, as the district has a natural Republican plurality of 8,700.

The effect of the extraordinary session of the Legislature upon the election has generally been regarded as favorable to the Republicans, inasmuch as it developed divisions among Democrats, and resulted in Cincinnati in putting a number of Democrats out of office. The polls close at A dispatch from Columbus, O., says:

"The chairmen of the respective State com-mittees have completed their work and anxiously await the results of to-morrow's election. So many and varied are the influences which have been at work during the campaign that it is with difficulty that the effects of each can be estimated. The Republican committee has endeavored to make an estimate on reports from all the counties in the State, and claim the State ticket will be elected by a plurality of 18,000 on a full average vote. They believe a total vote of 760,000 will be polled, which will be divided: Republican, 377,000; Democratic, 360,000 and Prohibitionists. 23,000. The committee expects to elect Congressmen sure, and on a full Republican vote eleven or twelve. The chairman of the Democratic committee says if the Democratic ticket gets 365,000 votes, the entire State ticket will be elected by 10,000 plurality. The committee counts on the election of fifteen Congressmen, though some of them may have small majorities. The committees seem agreed that the Prohibition vote will be the smallest in several years, and will not figure materially in the result. The Democrats hope that the Alliance movement will have a tendency to run Cromley, for Secretary of State, ahead of his ticket, and possibly result in his election, but the Republican committee does not concede this much strength to the movement. It is expected the Alliance wil have some effect in the Sixth and Eleventh congressional districts, possibly to the extent of electing the Republican candidates."

NEW YORK, STATE AND CITY.

Republicans Will Elect the Legislature and May Gain Congressmen--Municipal Fight. NEW YORK, Nov. 3.- The election in New York State to-morrow is for a Judge of the Court of Appeals, two Justices of the Supreme Court, thirty-four members of Congress and members of the Assembly. Robert Earl, the present incumbent, is the nominee for the Court of Appeals judgship on the Republican and Democratic tickets As this is the only office to be filled on the general State ticket there is little if any interest in the general vote. The Prohibitionists and the Socialists' Labor party have candidates in the field, but votes for these will hardly be an appreciable element. The interest centers, therefore, in the vote for Congressmen and also for members of the Assembly, as the next Legislature will select a successor to Senator Evarts. The New York delegation in the Fifty-first Congress consists of nineteen Republicans and fifteen Democrats. The Democrats are hopeful of making some gains, but the Republicans are equally confident that they will held their own if not increase their number. The State Senate holds over. In this the Republicans have nineteen and the Democrats thirteen. To secure a majority on joint ballot the Democrats must elect sixty-eight Assemblymen, while the Republicans require only sixty-two. In the last Assembly the Republicans had seventy-one and the Democrats fifty-seven. While the Democrate have been making strenuous efforts to secure enough votes to elect a Senator, there is little probability that they will succeed. Much more popular interest attaches to the vote for municipal officers in New York city than to the State election. The elec-tion is between the Tammany ticket, headed by Mayor Grant, and the People's Municipal League ticket, headed by Francis M. Scott, a County Democrat, and containing both Republican and Democratic names. The latter ticket has been indorsed by the probationary officer, were drowned in Hell | Republican party and the County Democ-Gate, late this afternoon, by the sinking of | racy, and has had the active support of all the Republican and mugwump papers.

The campaign for both tickets has been prosecuted with untiring energy, and both are claiming everything. This election will be the first under the new election law, the working and effect of which will be watched with great interest.

IN THE KEYSTONE STATE.

Two United States Senators Depending Upon the Result of the Balloting. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 3.—The most active campaign in Pennsylvania for several years ended to-night. A most thorough canvass of the State has been made by the two leading parties, in which the Republican and Democratic candidates for Governor-Messrs. Delamater and Pattisonhave personally taken an active part, each having addressed meetings in almost every county. The Prohibition and Labor parties both have full State tickets in the field, but neither has shown much activity in the campaign, and very few Labor or Prohibition meetings have been held. The State officers to be chosen are Governor, Lieutenant-governor and Secretary of Internal Affairs. These officers are to serve four years. The head of the tickets in the field are as follows: Republican, George W. Delamater; Democratic, Robt. E. Pattison; Prohibition, John D. Gill; Labor, Thomas P. Rynder. In 1886 Jas. A. Beaver, Republican, was elected Governor by a plurality of 42,651. The full vote was: Beaver, 412,285; Black (Dem.), 369,634; Wolfe (Pro.), 82,458; Houston (Labor), 4,835. In 1882 Pattison, the present Democratic candidate, was eleced Governor through a split in the Republican party, an independent candidate having been placed in the field. The full vote in that year was: Pattison (Dem.), 355,791; Beaver (Rep.), 315,589; Stewart (Ind. Rep.), 43,743, Armstrong (Greenback-Labor), 23,484; Pettit (Pro.), 5,196. Members of Congress are to be chosen in the twenty-eight districts. The present delegation in Congress consists of twen-Republicans and seven Democrats. Twenty-six members of the State Senate are to be elected; one to fill a vacancy and serve two years, the others to serve four years. The entire body of the lower house of the Legislature -204 members-is also to be chosen. The new Legislature will elect a United States Senator to succeed Senator James Donald Cameron, whose term will expire March 1891, and the twenty-five State Senators elected to-morrow will also have a vote for the successor of Senator Matthew S. Quay whose term will expire March 4, 1893. The present Legislature stands politically as follows: Senate, thirty-four Republicans and sixteen Democrats; House of Representatives, 144 Republicans and sixty Democrats.

IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Possibility that "Straight-Out" Democrats and Republicans May Defeat Tiliman. COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 3.—The election in South Carolina 18 to be for a full State ticket and Congressmen, and the interest arises from the split in the Democratic ranks caused by Tillman's nomination. Neither labor nor liquor questions enter into the present contest. The State election hinges mainly on opposition by the small faction of the Democratic party calling themselves "straight-outs" to what they term the disreputable character of Tillman, the regular Democratic nominee for Governor, based on his charges of cor-ruption and fraud in the administration of affairs since 1876, and from the fact that the Alliance was largely instrumental in securing Tillman's nomination. The great body of the white people will vote for Tillman. It is possible, however, that with the undivided support of the Republicans the Haskell ticket may be elected, and the Republican State executive has recommended its support.

IN OTHER STATES.

Several Close Districts in Michigan, with Odds in Favor of Republicans.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 3.-In Michigan a Governor and full State ticket, eleven Congressmen and a Legislature are to be chosen at to-morrow's election. Michigan is a State of fusion tickets, but this year there has been a departure from the usual tactics, and no less than four full State tickets are in the field-the Republican, Democratic, the Industrial and the Prohibition. Hon. James M. Turner is the Republican candidate for Governor, and Hon. E. B. W .ns is the Democratic candidate. The Democrats have made an aggressive fight against Turner, and will probably reduce considerably the usual Republican plurality on the head of the ticket. Considerable interest centers in the congressional contests in close districts. Congressman Burrows, of the Kalamazoo district, is this year opposed by his old Democratic competitor, ex-Congressman Yaple, who once defeated Burrows in this district. Both parties are hopeful, but Burrows will probably be re-elected. In the Grand Rapids district, one of the doubtublican candidate and ex-Congressman M. H. Ford the Democratic candidate. The result is hard to predict. In the Seventh district the Republicans hope to gain a Congressman by defeating Congressman Whiting, who has been renominated by the Democrats; but the Democrats are just as hopeful that they will not only hold this district, but gain a Congressman in the Tenth district, which the Republicans only carried by 115 votes two years ago.

Claims of Farmers in Minnesota. St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 3.-Minnesota is one of the interesting political States of the Northwest this fall from the fact that the phenomenal growth of the Farmers' Alliance within the last six months makes it likely that this new party will to-morrow cast over 25 per cent. of the total vote of the State. As Minnesota has heretofore been strongly Republican the growth of the new party has naturally been greatly at the expense of the dominant party, but with four full State tickets in the field. the Democrats and Farmers' Alliance having failed to combine, the chances are still slightly in favor of the Republican ticket. The candidates for Governor are William R. Merriam, Republican; Thomas Wilson, Democrat: S. M. Owen, Farmers' Alliance. and P. J. Pinkham, Prohibition. The most sanguine party in the State is without doubt the Farmers' Alliance, and they claim the State by from ten thousand to twenty thousand plurality. Of course, the older parties contest this, but it is frequently conceded that either of the three parties is almost equally liable to win. The Republicans claim the entire five congressional districts of the State, but in several of the districts their claims are stubbornly contested by the Democrats and Farmers' Alliance, so that it is impossible to predict accurate results.

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3.-The election in this State to-morrow promises to be the closest and most botly-contested in its history. The situation can fairly be termed uncertain. Four tickets are in the field. and of these the Republicans and the Farmers' Alliance both claim the victory. At the Republican State central committee headquarters in this city, chairman Watson claims the election of the entire State ticket by pluralities ranging from 8,000 to 15,000. No direct expression of opinions or estimate can be gained from the Democratic or Alliance committees, other than the claim of success for their respective tickets, with the exception of the Second district, where the Democrats and Alliance men have fused. There are three tickets in the congressional districts. Chairman Watson claims pluralities for all the Republican candidates. The result on the house of the Legislature, and, perhaps, of the Senate. In North and South Dakota, St. Paul, Nov. 3 .- North and South Dakota are both strongholds of the Farmers' Alliance, but only in the latter does the Alliance cut much of a figure. These two young States vote for a full State ticket. for Congressmen and Legislature. Senator Moody, in South Dakota, and Senator Pierce, in North Dakota, are to come be-prohibitory amendment is also in doubt, chose a State ticket, headed by one of themselves, and made up of selected candidates from the other party tickets. The Republicans of that State claim the election of their entire ticket by several thousand majority, and also claim a good majority in the Legislature. In South Dakota the Alliance has a complete State ticket, as also have the Republicans and Democrats, and each of those parties has also a congressional ticket in the field. Pierre will probably win in the State capital fight. All indications are that there will be no change in the representation from the two States at Washington.

West Virginia Estimates. WHEELING, W. Va., Nov. 3.-Hon. G. W. Atkinson, secretary of the State executive committee, to-night claims the election of Hubbard (Rep.) to Congress from the First district by from two to six hundred majority. He claims the election of Harmon Rep.) from the Second district, but is not overconfident. He is fearful of the defeat of Gaynes (Rep.) in the Third district because of race prejudice growing out of an alleged remark it is claimed Gaynes made in one of his speeches, that he was in favor of educating white and colored children in the same schools. In the Fourth district he considers it so close that no one can successfully conjecture the result. He, how-ever, is expecting the election of Smith (Rep.) by a majority of 50 to 150. Mr. Atkinson insists that Reynolds (Rep.) will surely defeat Lucas (Dem.) for Supreme judge. He claims the House of Pelegates for the Republicans by two majority, and says that the Senate will be a tie. He is considered the best authority in the State on West Virginia politics.

on West Virginia politics.

Doubtful Districts in Missourl. St. Louis, Nov. 3.—The chief interest in the election in Missouri to-morrow centers in five congressional districts and a new Legislature, which is to elect a United States Senator. The doubtful congressional districts are the Eighth, Ninth and Tenth, all of which include parts of this city, the Fourth or St. Joseph district, and the Thirteenth or Colonel Wade's district. A hotly contested campaign has been prosecuted in these districts, but the result seems to be quite doubtful. The Democratic State committee claims the Fourth, Ninth and Thirteenth, while the Republican committee contend that they will carry the Eighth, Ninth and Tenth without a particle of doubt, and that they have a splendid fighting chance in the Fourth. If this prediction proves true, the Republicans will hold their own in Congress, and perhaps add another to their number of Representatives. The Australian election law will receive its first practical test in this election, and much interest is centered in its workings.

Situation in Montana. HELENA, Mont., Nov. 3.—The voters of Montana to-morrow choose one Congress man and eight State Senators. Carter, of Helena, Republican, is a candidate for reelection. The Democratic nominee is W. W. Dixon, of Butte. Carter's majority last year, that being the first State election, was 1,600. The Republican State central committee claim he will be re-elected tomorrow by 1,000. The campaign has been hotly contested, and the Democrats are confident of electing Dixon by from 200 to 300. The registration is 20 per cent. less than one year ago, which involves an additional element of uncertainty. The real contest is for the control of the State Senate, that body being a tie, politically. The Demo-crats must elect four to control the body and the Republicans six. With one exception all the senatorial districts are debatable, which gives the Democrats high hopes of a majority in that body.

Still-Hunt in New Hampshire. CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 3.—The election in New Hampshire to-morrow is for State and county officers, members of Congress and the Legislature. The Legislature to be chosed will elect a successor to the Hon. Henry W. Blair, United States Senator. Both the leading parties have conducted a "still-hunt" campaign. There has been considerable speaking, the tariff being the most prominent issue. The vote will be smaller than that of 1888, when it aggregated 90,681. It will probably not exceed 85,000 this year. The indications are that there will be no choice for Governor, a majority vote being required to elect; that Mr. McKinney, Democrat, will be elected Congressman in the First district and Mr. Moore, Republican, in the Second district, and that the Legislature will be Republican by a small majority. The Prohibition vote will be small.

In Connecticut. HARTFORD, Conn., Nov. 3.-Connecticut will to-morrow choose a Legislature of twenty-four Senators and 251 members of the House, four members of Congress, a sheriff in each of the eight counties, a judge of probate in each district, and all justices of the peace. The Legislature will elect a ful districts. Chpt. C. W. Watkins is the United States Senator to succeed O. H. in 1888 had sixty-six Republican majority on joint ballot and it is generally conceded that the coming Legislature will also be Republican, although both parties are working actively for its control. It is thought that the Third congressional district will return a Republican and the Second a Democrat. The result in the First and Fourth cannot be predicted. The new secret ballot operates this year for the first time in a general election.

Will Be Close in California.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 3.—The election to be held in California to-morrow will be for Governor, Lieutenant-governor, Chief-justice and three Associate Justices of the Supreme Court, Comptroller, Treasurer, and a number of other State officers, as well a six members of Congress. Members of the Legislature are also to be elected, and more than the ordinary degree of interest is taken in this latter contest, as a United States Senator is to be elected at the next session of the Legislature to succeed Leland Stanford Republican. Both parties express great confidence in victory to-morrow, but not many definite estimates as to majorities are indulged in by either side, and it is generally believed the election will be a close

The Congressional Contest in Tennessee. NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 3.—The elections to occur in this State to-morrow have not occasioned very much interest. In the First congressional district the race for Congress is the bitterest in the history of the State. A. A. Taylor, the present Congressman, is opposed by R. R. Butler, independent Republican, and the race is close and tierce, with chances favoring Butler. In the Second district Houck will be reelected by a reduced majority. In the Third the race is very close, with chances favor-Snodgrass, Democrat, who opposes Evans, the present member. In the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth and Tenth the Democratic nominees will be elected with practically no opposition.

Cleveland Thinks Democracy Will Triumph Boston, Nov. 3.—The following letter has been received from Grover Cleveland by William E. Russell, Democratic candidate for Governor:

NEW YORK, Nov. 1. In this last stage of your splendid canvass 1 cannot refrain from expressing the hope that the people of the grand old commonwealth will testify their appreciation of your devotion to their interests by a decisive indorsement of your their interests by a decisive indorsement of your candidacy. The Democracy of Massachusetts will be false to the professions and traditions of their party and false to their duty to the country if in this critical hour they are guilty of the least indifference or inactivity. Triumphant Democracy is on the way, and the Massachusetts contingent must be prepared to join the march with flying banners of victory.

This will be the second State election and the first congressional election in Massachusetts under the Australian ballot law. The candidates for the principal offices on all three State tickets are, in the main, the same as last year. More than the usual doubt is felt touching the result. fore the next Legislature for re-election. lican State ticket will be elected by the usual majority, and that the Democrats will gain one member of Congress.

Division in Colorado. DENVER, Col., Nov. 3 .- On account of there being a bitter factional fight in the Republican party over local affairs the campaign has been a decidedly interesting one, and while in many localities there are two Republican tickets in the field, yet each side is supporting the Hon. H. M. Teller for re-election to the United States Senate. Because of these differences the Democrats are hopeful of electing Governor, State Treasurer and a majority in both houses of the Legislature, in case of which the Hon. T. M. Patterson will succeed Mr. Teller. The Republicans laugh at these Democratic expectations and are confident of carrying everything on the State ticket.

Factors in the Florida Election. JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 3.-All of the Democratic nominations for the Legislature have been influenced by the fact that tomorrow is to choose a United States Senator to succeed Wilkinson Call, which is an issue of absorbing interest in the Democratic canvass. The Farmers' Alliance will cut a large figure in the resuit. The polltax prerequisite law is in operation in this State this year for the first time. It has so far resulted in a large decrease in the number of qualified voters of the Republican party, and any Democratic gains will be largely due to this.

New Ballot Law in New Jersey.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 3.—The election in this State to-morrow will be noteworthy as being the first election under the new ballot law, which is a modification of the Australian law. The election will be for Assemblymen, a portion of the Senate and seven Congressmen. The present congressional delegation consists of four Republicans and three Democrats. There has been a pretty lively canvass in the close districts, and it will not excite surprise if the Democrats gain one or two seats.

In the Old Dominion. RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 3.—The election in this State to-morrow is for Congressmen only, and the contest is strictly upon party lines. The fight will be most hotly contested in the First, Second, Fourth, Eighth and Ninth districts. In the other five districts the chances are largely in favor of the Democrats.

MURDERED TWO MEN.

George Bennet, a Painter, Snuffs Out Two Lives with His Revolver at Lafayette.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Nov. 3.—A double tragedy occurred here late this afternoon. George Bennet, a painter, drew a revolver upon John Werkhoff, a locomotive fireman, and shot at him three times. One ball struck Werkhoff in the right side above the hip. To-night he is vomiting blood and sinking so rapidly that the prosecuting attorney took his statement under oath. He declares that he had no quarrel or conversation with Bennet, but that the latter came up behind him, and, with the remark, "I'll fix you, you ---," fired three times.

After shooting Werkhoff Bennet started to run, loading the empty chambers of the revolver as he ran. William Scott, a former policeman, seeing him with a revolver in his hand called out, "What's the matter, George?" For an answer Bennet fired at him twice. Scott was about thirty feet from him at the first shot, but closed in ou him after the second and succeeded in catching hold of Bennet and throwing him to the ground. Scott tried to get the revolver, but suddenly released his hold, and Bennet sprang to his feet and started to run. He was captured, and persons going to Scott found he was dead, the ball having entered the breast near the heart.

Bennet had been acting wildly during the day, and was drinking. To some he said be would make a newspaper item before dark, as he was going to kill some one. gine during the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy strike, and for this he claims rail road men have since been making life almost a burden to him.
